

Dr Warren Snodgrass and Dr Nicol Bush are co-directors of the Hypospadias Specialty Center in Dallas, Texas, the only center devoted exclusively to the repair of hypospadias in patients of all ages. Dr Snodgrass is internationally recognized for developing TIP repair for distal hypospadias, which is the most commonly used technique worldwide. He also described 3 corporotomies for straightening ventral curvature and, with Dr Bush, developed STAC repair for proximal hypospadias. TIP and STAC successfully correct any distal or proximal hypospadias, whether primary or reoperative.

Dr Snodgrass is a strong advocate for evidence-based surgery and the 3Ps of Prospective data collection, Periodic outcomes review, and Practice changes for surgeons and centers to improve their results. He is reported to be the most published and cited author for hypospadias surgery.
